

Bengal Cat Trait Scoring

Reference Sheet

Consider the cat is standing on all four legs. Confine the area of consideration to mid lateral surface of each cat, below dorsal surface and above ventral surface. Try to confine your consideration to the side abdominal (belly) surface of the cat behind the front legs, before the hips & thigh, below the curve of the body as it turns downward and above where the body turns inward to meet on the chest/abdomen.

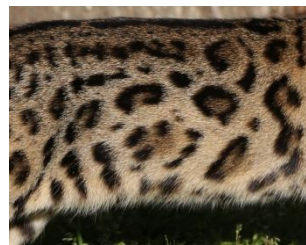

Acreage – the amount of space between markings

Consider only the lateral (side) pattern behind the front leg, in front of the hip/thigh, below the dorsal (back) surface and above the underside. View the large pattern markings (not the smaller inter-spacial spotting) and consider the amount of background space between them. 1 = background is greater than 1 ½ size of pattern, 3 = background space is same size as markings, 5 = background space is ½ or less size of marking
